Trades can be made in two ways, and the trader can choose one according to his needs:

- Hedge: A new invoice is created for each buy and sell, and the trader can have multi buy and sell «open trade» on one trading symbol.

7.2 Aron Groups broker, according to supply and demand quotes a two-way quote in acceptable volumes, which includes the spread between buy and sale price. The client can buy the asset at a higher price or sell it at a lower price.

The client must not provide his username or password to anyone, and all responsibilities arising from disclosing this information are the customer's responsibility. In case of any doubts about making a trade, the client must contact the support department and obtain the necessary explanations regarding the validity of the trade.

9. Call Margin Level

9.1 Aron Groups broker trading platform has an automatic stop loss feature called call margin level and auction level. If the margin call level and auction level are reached, they will be calculated as follows:

When the margin level (the ratio of the current balance to the margin *100) reaches below 100%, the client cannot open any new trading position. If the amount of loss reaches the auction level, according to the number of opened trading positions he has, the system starts to close them. It starts from the one with more losses; by taking this action, the margin call level will return to the top of the auction level. If the margin level is still under the auction level, every time that trading positions get closed, this process will be repeated. If the back trend and margin level reach the margin call level, the client can submit the new orders according to the margin he has. Kindly note that all these steps are instantaneous and are done in a fraction of a second. These numbers can be changed according to market conditions and fluctuations.

9.2 Aron Groups broker may change the call margin level and auction level for any market from time to time without prior notice, in situations like during unstable market conditions or the low level of liquidity of the market. This new call margin level and auction level will include all the current trading positions and new trades of the client. The trading symbols and trading account sector mention the minimum margin level requirements, which are valid at the time of these papers. 9.6 The client should rely on something other than the broker's right about requesting to increase the margin level to monitor the trading positions because it is the client's responsibility.
